OUR DOCTORS

Dr Simon McRae

MBBS, FRACP, FRCPA

Consultant Haematologist & Haemato-Oncologist

Dr McRae is a senior consultant haematologist with over 20 years' experience in both clinical and laboratory haematology. He has a focused interest in thrombotic and haemostatic disorders, but also has broad experience in the management of malignant haematological conditions.

Dr McRae completed haematology training in Tasmania, New South Wales, and Scotland. He then undertook a 3 -year clinical fellowship in venous thrombosis management at McMaster University, Ontario. He has worked as a consultant haematologist throughout Australia including time as the Director of Clinical Haematology at both the Royal Adelaide and Launceston General Hospitals.

He has a particular interest in the management of venous thrombosis and bleeding disorders and has been involved in clinical trials as a principal investigator for over two decades. He has over 50 peer reviewed publications and book chapters, and has been a contributing author to consensus international guidelines in his areas of interest.

He has previously served on the executive of the Australian Society of Thrombosis and Haemostasis (ASTH now THANZ), and was chair of the Australian Haemophilia Centre Directors Organisation (AHCDO) for over 6 years.

Dr McRae believes strongly in providing clear information to allow patients to be make informed decisions regarding their own management, and the tailoring of evidence based treatment to meet individual patient needs.
